

If only everyone could share this well.

powerful friends @your library™

Did you know that your library is part of a huge network? In Illinois, there are 12 regional library systems.

Each system has many different types of libraries all working together. This means that you have access to the resources of the entire state and beyond. Looking for a book, hard-to-find information, or a CD? Chances are it's in a library somewhere within the Illinois Library Systems. It's like having a network of hundreds of powerful friends just waiting to help you find what you want.

That's the power of sharing. That's the power of friends.
